Detroit woman's close encounters baffle experts!

These are among the incredible memories of Detroit businesswoman Adrienne Wundt, now 45, who knew nothing about her eerie contacts until she was hypnotized recently by famed UFO investigator Dr. Stephen Divorky.

"She'd never suspected that her longtime interest in UFOs was in part motivated by the unconscious memory of several UFO experiences she'd had starting at the age of 4," the Hungary-based investigator said.

In Mrs. Wundt's earliest recollection of an alien encounter, she described a doctor who visited her while she was in a hospital as a child.

At another hypnotic session, Mrs. Wendt recalled two bizarre-looking creatures who met her at a lonely place near her Michigan home when she was 9 years old.

"They told her they were her friends and that they had saved her life years earlier," Dr. Divorky said. "The thing she remembered best was their eyes, which she described as being a dull white, without any visible pupil, about two inches in diameter and protruding like golf balls."

During a third hypnotic session, the woman recalled a vacation trip to South Carolina when she was in her mid-30s. She remembered being taken aboard a UFO and examined by the same doctor who had cured her when she was 4.

Three or four other creatures aboard the craft stood less than 5 feet tall, had large heads and frail bodies — and bug-eyes just like the aliens she had seen when she was 9.

"We have enough additional and similar cases that we know this is not an isolated case, nor is it the product of a hoax or delusion," Dr. Divorky said.

SNAKE HANDLERS NO MATCH FOR RILED RATTLERS!

Pittsburgh doctors scrambled to find an anti-venin serum for two nutty snake handlers who got a little too close to some deadly rattlers.

Brian Grabouski, 28, and Joseph Holomshek, 34, were engaged in a competition at the Sportsmen Club in West Newton, Pa., which entailed picking up diamondback rattlesnakes using a two-pronged stick.

Both victims declined medical treatment for the bites in their hands at first, but as the evening approached, they became nauseous, with arms swollen from fingers to shoulder.

So the unlucky snake charmers called an ambulance and took themselves in for some anti-snakebite treatment, said Sportsmen Club representative Christine Lugares.

"I just messed up," responded Grabouski when he was asked what happened.

Bill collectors who made couple's life hell must pay 'em $11 million!

By KATHY MOSS
Weekly World News

EL PASO, Texas — Bill collectors for a credit card company got no sympathy from a jury that awarded $11 million to a couple, who were hounded and harassed night and day for more than a year.

Agents for the now-defunct Allied Adjustment Bureau threatened Marianne Drisoul's life, called in a bomb threat where she worked and eventually drove Marianne and her husband Albert out of town.

"They literally scared the hell out of the poor lady," said their attorney, Noel Gage. "She cracked. They broke her. They literally broke her."

The torment began in 1991 when the couple began falling behind on a $2,000 Household Visa credit card bill. Albert didn't have a steady job at the time.

Household wanted its money and threatened to send someone to collect when Mrs. Drisoul, 62, said she could pay only $50 a month.

"That's when things started going downhill, and the campaign of harassment began," Gage said. Things got worse when the account was turned over to Allied for collection.

In the following months, Mrs. Drisoul was harassed at her job by repeated disturbing phone calls — 38 in two hours one day.

In February 1992, a bill collector told Mrs. Drisoul over the phone that a contract would be put out on her life and that she had better start looking over her shoulder. The next month, a bomb threat was phoned in to her job.

The terrified couple finally fled for their lives to New Mexico. A jury later decided that Household Credit Services Inc. of Salinas, Calif., and Allied Adjustment Bureau violated the state Debt Collection Practices Act. The law prohibits debt collectors from threatening violence or making harassing or obscene calls.

The Drisouls were awarded $9 million in punitive damages and $2 million in actual damages.

"It's outrageous," said Household attorney Robert Ainsworth, who said Mayes

Gals with beards and pimples face higher risk of heart attack!

EXCESSIVE FACIAL HAIR May Ouch! Actress Lady Frances Murphy is a warning sign of increased risk of coronary disease, say experts.

By DENNIS THOMPSON / Weekly World News

Women with pimples and beards may have more than a cosmetic problem to worry about — they may also be at a greater risk of heart attacks!

And incredibly, as many as 12 million American women suffer from these troublesome facial conditions, says internal disease specialist Dr. Robert Wild.

"Surprisingly, excessive facial hair may be a warning sign of increased risk of heart disease. And the same applies to adult acne in women," Dr. Wild said.

He said these cosmetic problems may be a tip-off that the woman's body is producing too much testosterone, a male hormone usually produced in women's ovaries only in tiny amounts.

Women with high testosterone levels tend to have increased levels of dangerous lipids, or blood fats — and lower levels of HDL, the so-called "good cholesterol." This promotes blockage of coronary arteries, which can cause heart attacks.

Dr. Wild said high testosterone levels are also linked to high blood pressure and obesity and can lead to diabetes.

All of these conditions can lead to a higher risk of heart disease.

"All women between the ages of 13 and 30 who suffer from acne or excessive facial hair should have their lipid levels measured," Dr. Wild advised.

"They should also have their testosterone levels measured and be checked for insulin abnormalities."

Doctors usually recommend exercise and dietary changes to reduce lipid levels, and may sometimes prescribe medication, Dr. Wild said. Medication may also be used to lower the testosterone levels.

Jury duty can make you sick as a dog and maybe even kill you!

The verdict is in — jury duty can be hazardous to your health, warns a psychiatrist.

By ERICA SANDERS
Weekly World News

"People are under intense pressure while serving on a jury," declared psychiatrist Dr. Stanley Kaplan. "The pressure can cause stress-related nervousness, depression, ulcers, hives and even the flu!"

Dr. Kaplan bases his findings on the results of a study by him and other researchers.

"We interviewed 40 jurors after four criminal trials and found almost two-thirds suffered from stress-related ailments," he said.

The stress of serving on a murder trial is easy to imagine, said Dr. Kaplan. In some states with capital punishment, a juror's decision could mean the difference between life and death.

Add to that the fact that murder and other violent cases like sex abuse and rape may also involve graphic evidence jurors find horrifying — and you have a potential for even more pressure.

"In one case I studied, a defendant was accused of child abuse," said Dr. Kaplan. "The jurors were forced to listen to detailed testimony that shocked and upset some of them."

Yet even a minor trial can be stressful because jurors are often isolated and prevented from discussing the case, he warned. "In a trial, you're forced to judge another person, but you're not allowed to talk about what's going on. So the pressure and tension have a chance to build.

"In another case, the jury was sequestered in a hotel. All day, the jurors were listening to detailed information that forced them to stay focused. Then at night, they were sent to strange hotel rooms that added to a sense of isolation."

But Dr. Kaplan emphasized that there are steps jurors can take to reduce their stress and protect their health:

- During recesses, read a favorite book, do a knitting project or play card games to help ease the tension.
- Don't carry the burden of the verdict on your shoulders alone. Remind yourself that you're doing a job for society.
- Once the verdict is in and you are free of your responsibility, discuss the case with your family and friends.

A GLASS OF WATER A DAY CAN KEEP TOOTH DECAY AWAY

Want to protect your teeth from cavities and stop bad breath? Then drink water after you eat!

That's the advice of Dr. Howard Martin, an endodontist.

He says brushing and flossing after every meal is best.

But if you can't do that, a drink of water will flush out leftover food particles that would otherwise turn into acid — causing tooth decay and bad breath.

Swish the water around in your mouth vigorously before swallowing or spitting it out.

If you can get warm salt water, that's better because the solution is good for your gums.

And if water isn't available, even soda pop will work, in spite of the sugar it contains. That's because the sugar spends so little time in your mouth.

Said Dr. Martin: "The goal is to eliminate as many food particles as possible, which minimizes the initial formation of tooth decay."

900-LB. MAN AND 2 FT. 6 IN. WOMAN HAVE A BABY!

By TANYA SRODER / Weekly World News

The biggest thing in 2-foot-6 Nellie Jackson's life was her 8-foot-tall, 903-pound mate Mitch — until she gave birth to the couple's first baby just weeks ago!

Now the mini-mom and her huge hubby are delighting in their new baby and hoping he's just the first of many offspring.

"Little Colin is the answer to my dreams," said Nellie, a perky 47-pound secretary who married Big Mitch in March 1991. "All I've ever wanted in life was a loving husband and a baby of my own. Since our son was born, I feel like I'm in heaven."

The New York couple were introduced by friends in February 1988 and fell instantly in love. Mitch popped the question just a month later and the two married right away.

From the beginning, Mitch, 38, and Nellie, 35, knew they wanted a family. So when Nellie realized she was pregnant last spring, they were beside themselves with joy.

Nellie, who suffers from dwarfism, was worried that her baby might inherit the genetic condition. But when little 6-pound, 2-ounce Colin was born on September 27, doctors found him to be in perfect health.

"He's got his daddy's dark hair and he's big for his age — just like Mitch," said Nellie. "And he's got hazel eyes, just like me.

"The doctors say he is developing well and is a bright little boy with a terrific future. We always wanted a big family and now we know we can have beautiful, healthy kids. There's no reason why we can't have a houseful of them."

Big Mitch, owner of a successful auto parts business, is so happy with his gorgeous new son that he's promised Nellie he's going to take better care of himself in years to come.

"I told her I'm going to lose some of my four hundred pounds and start an exercise routine," Mitch said.

"I want to make certain I'm around to see our little boy grow up."

O.J. Simpson offered MILLION$ to star as himself in new version of The Fugitive

A top Brazilian TV producer wants O.J. Simpson to star as himself in a new adventure series . . . for $1 million an episode!

By ALICE FOSTER
Weekly World News

The Long Run is planned as an updated version of The Fugitive with Juice fleeing the law through the jungles of South America . . . as he doggedly hunts the real killers of his slain ex-wife.

The project is the brainchild of mogul Raul Machado, the man behind two of the country's highest rated soap operas.

"Viewers throughout South America have been fascinated by the O.J. drama," Machado told Weekly World News. "It's been the biggest story in the world for months, and it's only natural that we'd want to capitalize on it.

"We're confident that it will be very easy for them to identify with O.J."

The show will take advantage of exotic locales such as Rio de Janeiro, he said. "In the pilot episode O.J. is accused of murder and flees down to South America in his Bronco. In a dramatic chase sequence, he barely escapes across the border."

In each episode, O.J. — dubbed into Spanish — comes tantalizingly close to catching the drug lords he suspects of killing his ex-wife, while helping a person in trouble.

His sidekick on the show will be a goofy Kato-like junior named Hans-viewers — especially teen girls. We've signed soap actor Eduardo Mateos, a long-haired hunk who's a ringer for Kato."

Throughout the series, O.J. will be relentlessly pursued by a bigoted American cop based on former L.A. detective Mark Fuhrman. "He, too, has a buddy, a black cop. Their banter will be another element of the show." Machado says actor Bruce Boxleitner would be his first choice to play O.J.'s nemesis. "Boxleitner has a big following here in Brazil."

Curvy starlet Sonja Urueca has already been cast as O.J.'s faithful maid Rosa, who accompanies the fu- — he'll have a different one every week," explained Sonja, whose character is loosely based on wife Rosa Lopez. "I'm more like a den mom — I try to keep Juice and Mandingale out of trouble."

The premise "could be a winner," notes TV critic Rex Meyer. "It is reminiscent of the classic show Bonanza, where a disgraced hero must reclaim his good name."

Machado has not yet secured Simpson's agreement to appear on the show, he admits. "I'll just have to keep my fingers crossed."

He says that if he's able to get the show off the ground, he'll pursue

THE 10 BEST DIET TIPS EVER!

By DINA SANDERS / Weekly World News

You really CAN drop unwanted pounds — by following these 10 best diet tips from top experts:

1 Plan all your meals in advance and eat only the meals you've planned. If you decide your menu ahead of time, you're more likely to make healthy food choices, says diet expert Dr. Carolyn Rash.

2 Eat only at the table. Limiting your eating to the kitchen or dining room table will keep you from snacking in front of the TV or grabbing treats on the run.

3 Always measure out a moderate portion and put the rest away. If you want pretzels, put a few in a bowl and put the bag back in the cabinet BEFORE you sit down to eat. It's easy to eat too many when you're munching out of the bag, says nutrition science specialist Dr. Sheri Zidenberg.

4 Avoid all-you-can-eat restaurants. Buffet-style restaurants featuring fatty foods offer too much temptation for people trying to shed weight.

5 Ban high-calorie treats from your house. Instead, keep fruits, rice cakes and vegetables for snacking.

6 Ask family members not to eat junk food at home. You're not eating french fries and ice cream, so don't let others tempt you with their fatty foods.

7 Change your life-style to become more active. You don't have to take up strenuous exercise to lose pounds. Some simple changes work miracles. Never drive for instants, when you can just as easily walk.

8 Have a glass of water before each meal. This will make you feel fuller and help you eat less. Many people think they're hungry when they're actually thirsty.

9 Brush your teeth every time you eat. If your teeth feel clean and your breath is nice and fresh you'll think twice before ruining them by reaching for goodies.

10 Eliminate food from your social activities. Instead of meeting a friend for coffee and dessert, go to a movie or go shopping together. Rather than going out to lunch with your spouse, take a romantic walk in the park.

IS AN EVIL RABBIT TRYING TO KILL ME?

Dear Serena: Please don't think I'm crazy but I'm afraid an evil rabbit is trying to kill me. He's been after me since 1967 but lately it's been getting worse and worse.

Just last week I was driving down the highway when the rabbit jumped in my window and ran my car off the road. I barely missed a tree and I was lucky my car didn't flip over. Another time, while I was fishing, the rabbit knocked me off the pier into the water where I nearly drowned.

Serena, I'm really worried I won't survive the next attack. Is this rabbit really trying to kill me — and is there any way I can stop it? — Worried in Cape May

Dear Worried: There is no rabbit. But your alcohol and drug problem is far worse than you realize. Please seek the treatment your wife has been strongly urging you to get — before it's too late.

Dear Serena: Was I the next Hemingway in a former life? I was born right after he died in 1961 and I've always had a knack for writing. One of my teachers once told me I wrote like Hemingway, so I thought maybe I used to be him. What do you think? — Talented in Dunreville

Dear Talented: No, you were not Ernest Hemingway in a former life. Your writing skills come from your mother's father. He was quite a talented writer though he rarely had a chance to display his skills in the rural area where he lived.

Dear Serena, Will my dog ever come home to me? He's been missing for two weeks now and I'm about to give up hope. — Lonely in Exeter

Dear Lonely: He has gone astray. Keep your mind off your dog. Force your thoughts from your farm. Have only a spot to get him headed back to you — and he'll be waiting at your front door this Thursday night.

Dear Serena, I recently went to a carnival and had a palm reader tell my future. She said I was going to receive great praise when I save five people's lives in December. This made pretty good sense since I'm a professional fireman. But my wife didn't really want that palm reader and she caused me to strike in you to see what you think. Am I really going to be a hero? — Courageous in Milford

Dear Courageous: This seer was correct. You will perform your brave act in future December 5th and 12th on vacation, South Carolina. I lost a ring my aunt gave me. The last place I noticed it was when I went swimming, so I'm really afraid I lost it in the ocean and will never find it. I'm now back into your crystal ball and see if there's anything I can do to get my ring back! — Tearful in Gordon

Dear Tearful: The ring is in the pocket of the shorts you wore to play tennis on the next day of your trip. You'll find it in the pocket.

PERSONAL TO—

Lover in Gordon: The love of your life will leave there herself to you during a Memorial Day parade in 1994. Until then, just have some fun.

Accused in Oakley: Yes, you did break the door when you were drunk last Saturday.

Q My daughter idolizes Cindy Crawford and would love to have her very own Cindy doll. Where can I find one?

— Barbara M., Scranton, Pa.

HIS BARBIE DOLL? Cindy Crawford.

A Sorry, you're out of luck. Cindy won't be getting "dolled up" any time soon. She nixed a multimillion dollar deal with Mattel to lend her image to a Barbie-size doll — because she doesn't want to be considered all beauty and no brains!

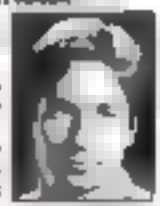
Q I love X-Files star David Duchovny, but I can't figure him out. Give us some clues to this guy's off-screen personality.

— Annalee N., San Francisco, Calif.



TOO TIRED FOR LOVE? David Duchovny.

A David's acupuncturist provides this fascinating insight into the man: "His kidneys are very unusual. The kidneys complain mainly that they'd rather do more work than get a relationship with a girl." Like a hot girl. They want him, but somehow he is just too tired to deal with it. He wants somebody who is really steady who loves him more than he loves her."

Q Someone told me my hero Oliver North is considering jumping from a career in radio to a career in television. Is there any truth to this?

— Cindy B., Montreal, Canada

A The former Iran-Contra woman has already appeared on NBC's new this fall adventure series Jag. The series creator, Donald Bellisario, asked North to play a retired military intelligence operator on the show.

HEADING FOR TV: Oliver North.

Q Was the great director Alfred Hitchcock bothered by the fact that he was a short, bald-headed fat man?

— Dick C., Miami, Fla.

A No way. In fact, he insisted he was thinner than generally thought. "There seems to be a widespread impression that I am stout," he once told an interviewer. "I can see you share my misconception at this intimate distance, but I may keep a little large just now, but you must remember, this is before taxes."

Q I just love Dolly Parton. A friend told me she is a strong believer in life after death. Is this correct?

— Jill N., Laramie, Wyo.

A Your pal is 10b percent right. In fact, the chesty songbird once said, "My two grandmothers — who have been dead for years — regularly appear to me to give me advice. What they tell me always comes true — and when I don't listen to them, things always go wrong."

AFTERLIFE BELIEVER: Dolly Parton.

Q Bruce Willis seems like a real "man's man." I'll bet he never spends any time around women if he can help it. Am I right?

— Charles H., Providence, R.I.

A Wrong! The guy spends his off-screen life surrounded by the fairer sex. "On any given day there are 10 women — Demi, my daughters, their nannies, the cook, the friends of the nannies and the friends of my girls and their nannies," he says. "And then there's me."

MORE HAIR! Tom Arnold.

Q Roseanne's ex, Tom Arnold, seems a tad hairier these days. Is he wearing a toupee?

— Glen V., Brattleboro, Vt.

A No toupee, but the Nine Months funnyman had a hair transplant last year to beef up his thinning hairline. He told pals, "I needed it to feel better about myself."

World's Yo-Yo champion dies trying loop-the-loop trick!

Speeding disc hits him in the head and causes cerebral hemorrhage

SYDNEY, Australia — World Yo-Yo champion Ted Gerner died a quick but horrible death when he tried to loop the loop with a cheap wooden Yo-Yo — and conked himself on the head!

"I've been a cop for 17 years and I've seen people killed in just about every way imaginable, but this, I assure you, is a first," said Police Lt. Paul Marson who investigated the case.

According to the coroner's report Mr. Gerner suffered a cerebral hemorrhage prompted by a blow to the head with a blunt instrument.

"The blunt instrument of course was a spinning Yo-Yo. Naturally he lost control while attempting a loop the loop that he'd practiced and perfected. Ted knocked himself in the temple.

Yo-Yos might look innocent but when a master like Mr. Gerner is performing tricks they swing around at speeds of as far as 9000 rpm.

The force was so severe that there was nothing anybody could have done to help him.

The tragic drama unfolded while Gerner, a four time world champion, practiced his Yo-Yo tricks in a public park.

Witnesses said the 37 year old star had successfully completed half a dozen tricks when the Yo-Yo inexplicably snagged on his wrist string — and swooped back into Gerner's head.

"I had been watching him for maybe five minutes when — BAM! — the Yo-Yo hit him in the head," said Richard Tate a bystander who witnessed the accident.

"He reeled wildly and crashed to the ground.

"You knew instantly that something was happening but there was really nothing [illegible]

By ELAINE ROBERTS
Weekly Herald Staff

The next thing I know, he's on the ground. And he didn't get up."

Gerner made his living performing Yo-Yo tricks and traveled all over the world doing exhibitions.

He also had one of the world's most extensive collections of rare Yo-Yos. But friends said he often performed with the cheapest he could get his hands on because that's the kind most people use.

He never wanted people to think that the tricks were something only skilled people with expensive equipment could do," said longtime pal Margaret Lynn.

Ted was really down to earth. And as much as I'll miss him, I know he died happy.

Life could be so shameless all around him. But when he had a Yo-Yo in his hand all the worries vanished. He was never happier."

SALA, Sweden — Farmer Stig Gustavsson was knocked unconscious in a traffic accident and lay dying beside the road — till his prize pig ran more than two miles for help!

Gus says Stan, 48, was driving his steel pig to a friend's farm when he lost control of his truck and hit a tree, knocking himself unconscious. But the pig saved the day by running home, grabbing Stan's wife Annemarie by her shirt and tugging at her until she followed him back to the scene of the accident.

"My husband needs help," a woman told her psychiatrist. "Just this morning he wept over a little dog with a broken leg."

"That doesn't sound too bad," the psychiatrist soothed. "Many people feel sensitive about the sufferings of animals. Even I might weep at the sight of a dog with a broken leg."

"Well, I'm not," she said, "but when he had a Yo-Yo in his hand all the worries vanished. He was never happier."

HATS OFF...

Youthful Hatmaker [redacted] It Big Thanks To Psychic [redacted]

Unemployed with a young daughter to support, Chandra C. had no one to turn to for help. Then she called The Psychic Friends Network...

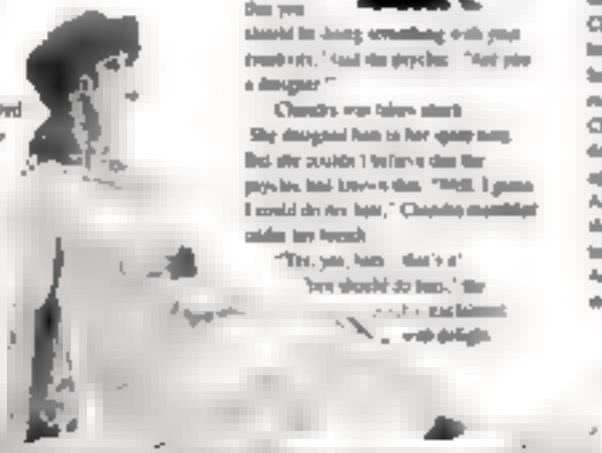
Chandra Chi needed advice – and she needed it fast. After years working as a buyer and manager for a fashionable clothing store, she had spent the last six weeks unemployed.

Then, Chandra received what seemed like a series of great luck – two job offers in the same day!

"Oh my!" she thought. "Which job is going to be the best one for getting me and my daughter out of the rut we've fallen into?"

Such an important decision was not one Chandra wanted to make alone. So with the decision deadline rapidly closing in, she turned to The Psychic Friends Network.



Instantly a Master Psychic gave Chandra an incredible glimpse into her future. She told her which job to accept – and which one to take. But the psychic didn't stop there. She warned that something even better was about to appear on the horizon.

"I don't think you'll stay at that job long," the psychic told Chandra.

"What do you mean?" asked Chandra.

"I sense that you should be doing something with your creativity," said the psychic. "Are you a designer?"

Chandra was taken aback. She designed hats in her spare time. But she couldn't believe that the psychic had known that. "Well, I guess I could do one here," Chandra mumbled under her breath.

"Yes, yes, hats – that's it! You should do hats," the psychic exclaimed with delight.

"Hats! Hats! You absolutely must do your hats! It has to be your hats!"

Chandra loved to design hats! But surely she couldn't make a career out of it. Or could she?

The Psychic Friends Network knew beyond doubt. Chandra went back to her job. But reluctantly. Chandra decided against it. After all, she really didn't want to be seriously. And there was probably more security at the job the psychic suggested she might take. But a few weeks later Chandra left that job – just as the psychic predicted. It turned out Chandra was supposed to do a lot of down-lifting, and she screwed her back. Now, she had really to rock bottom.

But while recuperating, something magical happened. "Hats! Hats! You absolutely must do your hats!" A hat to be your own!" Suddenly the psychic's words echoed in Chandra's ears like the whisper of an angel. And a surge of courage and confidence swept through her body like a spark from another world. Immediately she picked up a pen and pad of paper and began to sketch out her first idea. Then a second. Then a third. It was as if she couldn't stop. By the end of the day she had the rough drafts of a whole new line – all inspired by the all-knowing voice of her Psychic Friend saying, "Hats. Hats. You absolutely must do your hats!"

Only Her Psychic Friend Knew Exactly What Would Happen!

Motivated by her decision, Chandra began working on her hats full time. Soon boutiques all over the country were selling them.

"We did it!" Chandra exclaimed, reaching for the phone and dialing the Psychic Friends Network. Now Chandra has her own boutique in Berkeley, California. "Hats off to the Psychic Friends Network," says the smiling Chandra. "None of this would have been possible without their motivation, advice – and uncanny ability into tomorrow!"

Top model makes $1 million a year showing off her cottage cheese thighs!

LOVELY Helen Tately is a hot ticket in the fashion world. Her lucky legs have put her on top of the industry.

BIG AND BEAUTIFUL Helen's boyfriend depends on her perfect proportions of cellulite.

MILLION DOLLAR GAMS. Helen earns megabucks from her dimpled thunder thighs!

CELLULITE QUEEN!

By MYRA MADDEN / Weekly World News

BOSTON — Pretty Helen Tately makes $1 million a year modeling her least attractive "assets" — cellulite riddled thighs!

And far from hiding her hams when she's out in public, the 28-year-old supermodel — who appears in advertisements for cellulite treatments the world over — wears micro-mini-skirts and other fashions that draw attention to her legs.

"Most women are embarrassed by cellulite but it's my bread and butter," said Miss Tately. "Instead of hiding it, I flaunt it.

"Hey — it pays me a million every year."

Miss Tately didn't always feel so comfortable with her cellulite. When it began to develop few years ago, she actually contemplated suicide.

"I've always been incredibly vain and when I first noticed that I was getting cellulite, I became deeply depressed and even thought about killing myself," she explained.

"But then I noticed an ad in the newspaper that promised modeling jobs for people with flaws.

"I really don't know why, but I sent in a picture of me in a bikini. A few days later, I got a call asking me to come in for an interview. I thought it was a joke — but I needed the money and agreed to do it. One thing led to another. Before I knew it, I had more work than I could handle.

"It sounds strange — but advertising agencies say I have 'perfect cellulite.' My ugly legs are in demand all over the world. I turn up in advertisements everywhere."

In fact, just about everybody who reads newspapers or magazines has seen Miss Tately's legs.

Her face has graced more magazine covers than any other model in the world — and her curvaceous body is more familiar than those of the Playboy Bunnies.

Her legs have appeared in more commercials than those of Joe Namath, Bruce Jenner and Mean Joe Greene combined.

And her thighs are more recognizable than those of Miss Piggy.

Her agent, Jack Tinsley, says Miss Tately is the most successful model in the history of the business.

"Helen's legs are the most famous in the world," he said. "Her face is beautiful, but it's her legs that have made her a superstar.

"Her cellulite is so perfect that it's the envy of every woman in the world. Helen's thighs are the most dimpled, lumpy and bumpy in the business. They're the standard by which all other cellulite is measured.

"Helen's cellulite is so famous that she's been mobbed by fans in the streets of Paris, London and Rome. Her cellulite is more recognizable than those of the Pope, Mickey Mouse and Elvis."

Tinsley said Miss Tately's cellulite is so famous that she could get rich simply by showing off her legs in public.

"Helen could make a fortune by simply walking down the street in a miniskirt," he said. "Her cellulite is so famous that she could get rich simply by showing off her legs in public

Guys fall in love TWICE as fast as gals, new research reveals

(Sonia) scientists have learned plenty of our secrets when it comes to love and romance. Here are some of the most fascinating ones they've uncovered:

● If you're a man drinking at a bar, one of the most effective lines for picking a woman up is, "I feel a little embarrassed, but I'd like to meet you."

● If you have heard that assertive women turn men off, don't believe it. In one study, both men and women favored women they rated as "assertive." In fact, females who were rated as not assertive were seen unfavorably.

● If you are a man in love, you probably "fall" more readily and quickly than the woman did — about twice as fast, in fact.

By KATHY ROSS
Weekly World News

Also, you were probably more committed initially to the relationship than she was. When things start going badly you are less likely than the woman to suggest breaking up.

● If you are a woman in love you probably resisted "falling" or were less eager at first that it was happening than he was. But after an initial period, you were probably more committed to the relationship than he was.

● If you are a man, you are likely to love your lover more than your mother, father, brother, sister or best male friend.

But if you are a woman, you are likely to love your lover and your best female friend about the same. And you like your best friend more! Researchers say that's because women are better at achieving intimacy and value it more than men do, so if women don't get the intimacy they crave in a relationship with a man, they establish close friendships with other women.

● The girls really do get better looking at closing time — and so do the guys!

Male patrons surveyed at a bar rated women as significantly more attractive 30 minutes before closing time than they had just three hours earlier.

When researchers decided to check out their finding in another survey, they learned women, too, rated customers of the opposite sex better looking at closing time.

A frightening 60 percent of executioners believe [illegible] they keep put to death, a new study reveals.

I'm so mad I could bite a hand grenade in two over that outrageous photo of President Hillary Rodham sitting on the toilet that was just published in an Italian magazine.

Hey, I may not agree with her on every decision she makes at the White House, but this is a total invasion of her privacy. I'm glad the picture was clear enough to see the name of the magazine she was reading. Could it be Weekly World News? Nah.

The photo's in bad taste, folks, and whoever took it and sold it to the rag mag oughta be shot!

I'm madder than O.J. Simpson with a broken golf club that my girlfriend daughter-in-law Candy is scheduled to appear on one of those stupid TV talk shows. And guess what the subject's gonna be about? You guessed it — how fat people deal with their partner problems.

I just hope and pray Candy doesn't cross her legs during the show, or they'll need a wrecking ball to get her off the couch. Ed Anger

I told my son Bubba not to marry her unless he planned on spending $400 a week on groceries for the rest of his life but he wouldn't listen.

By the way, the only daytime talk show I watch is Geraldo. The guy is like the late great sports caster Howard Cosell — he tells it like it is.

And speaking of ex-O.J. Simpson, a big Ed Anger salute to The Juice and his attorneys for getting him off the hook in the murder rap. Now if they can only get him off the golf course.

O.J.'s game has got to be a little rusty, if you know what I mean. So the last thing that I want into the stands on a 175-yard par 3 is like running back a 90-yard kickoff for a touchdown. I guess he straightened out his slice.

Nothing makes me more pissed off and disgusted than sissy women's libbers, so you can imagine how happy I was to read that "Women with high testosterone levels are more career-oriented than women with low levels."

Put in plain English, folks, that means masculine, tuck butt gals do better on the job than the average mooney female.

Psychologist Patricia Schreuner-Kruger of Mount Sinai School of Medicine says her study found that women with low levels of the male hormone tended to be homemakers, students or temporary employees.

Surprise, surprise (cripes, as Gomer Pyle used to say on TV), the study also found that women with high testosterone levels were more likely to be found in professional jobs.

Now I'm not saying that all women should be barefoot and pregnant, but I'm sick and tired of seeing all these bra-burning, ball-busting broads on TV and in the movies.

Give me a woman who knows her place and I'll show you a woman who's happy.

I just bought some of that new bottled mineral water for dogs for my English bulldog Dodger and Blossom. And guess what? They can't get enough of it.

Blossom went through three bottles of this stuff and she's only about two hours.

It's called Thirsty Dog and I think I'll put a little laxative in a bottle of that stuff, and give it to my neighbor for that stupid Siamese of hers!

Ed Anger

ED'S bulldogs, Dodger and Blossom, love Thirsty Dog!

SURPRISE! X-RATED SMUT RAN WILD IN COLONIAL AMERICA

Pornography in America is nothing new — it was just as rampant in Colonial times, historians reveal.

Our Founding Fathers amused themselves with smutty books and there was a big market in sexy paintings, sketches, and engravings.

"There's just been more attention [illegible] past [illegible] because it's more open," declared Dr. John Cotter.

Even Benjamin Franklin didn't spend all his time flying kites — he was a passionate womanizer and an avid porn collector.

"We have all his smut here," said an employee at the Library Company in Philadelphia, a rare book library that Franklin founded in 1731.

Archaeology students digging under historical buildings in Philadelphia have found pornographic objects left by early colonists, according to Dr. Cotter, a museum curator emeritus. He says they dug up a pipe smoker's tobacco tamper with two figures carved on it under Carpenter's Hall, where the First Continental Congress met.

"It was a man and a woman in what you would call a compromising position," the curator recalled.

Digging under Independence Hall where the Liberty Bell hangs students discovered an X-rated wooden carving. And an obscene bottle stopper was found at another site.

Among the racy books read by early Americans were Aristotle's Master Piece, a humorous sex guide, Fanny Hill, a tale of a woman's sexual romps in 18th-century England and a guidebook to Philadelphia's brothels called Gay Houses and Ladies of Pleasure in the City of Brotherly Love and Easterly Affection.

1,000s flock [illegible] convent in southern France

Picture of the Virgin Mary cries, talks & heals the sick!

By MICKEY McGUIRE
Correspondent

TOULOUSE, France — Ailing pilgrims from all over the world are gathering at a tiny convent here to worship devoutly before a centuries-old painting of the Virgin Mary that weeps real tears — and talks.

The ancient painting made headlines just two years ago when word of its miraculous powers spread behind The Iron Gate, where it hangs in the Convent of the Sacred Heart chapel.

Since then, hundreds of men, women and children swear it has cured their ills [illegible] while speaking to them in an angelic voice.

"If you will vow to devote your life to helping others I will intercede on your behalf with my son Jesus," witnesses say the painted Virgin tells the sick.

"Go now in faith and await your blessing."

"The voice is sweet and soft," said a convent nun who has heard the weeping Virgin speak to many of the pilgrims who kneel beneath the painting.

"It's not a beautiful voice. It's what I imagine an angel would sound like.

"When I hear it, I feel as though I'm in the very presence of God."

The pilgrims, many of them journeying to Paris from as far away as Paris, offer prayers of devotion to the talking Virgin in the desperate hope she will perform a miracle cure that will end their pain. Convent nuns say hundreds, if not thousands, of the stricken worshippers have been completely cured!

"There could very easily be reported in a Toulouse newspaper. "The miracles usually take place after those who have heard the voice have returned to their homes."

And the painting of the Virgin is itself a miracle. The tears that stream from her eyes are real. The painting has been carefully examined by religious experts as well as by those art experts from the Louvre in Paris. Nuns can explain the origin of the tears of the Virgin.

The Mother Superior said the painting was in a cupboard in the room when she first arrived there in 1947.

It was after hung in the chapel where it has remained ever since. A special committee has been appointed to investigate each miracle cure with the results being made public as they become available.

The initial list of miracle cures includes Camille Peute, a 67-year-old housewife from St. Etienne, who was shown symptoms of the polio she had when she visited the convent.

Marcel Bouille, 43, who was confined to a wheelchair for the past 21 years because of arthritis, was able to walk without any help four days after returning to his home in Argenteuil from his visit to the weeping Virgin.

Paul Mellout, a 14-year-old Bordeaux boy paralyzed from the neck down in a fall from his bicycle, stunned his doctor

POT BELLY?

If you want to flatten your stomach and trim your waist, you should know about a new book, 3 Simple Steps to Flatten Your Belly! The book shows you a simple diet and two ways to give yourself a flat, firm stomach—even if other attempts to lose your pot belly failed.

Why It's So Hard to Get Rid of a Pot Belly

Incredibly, some stomach programs only make your pot belly worse. You see, some stomach programs may actually build up and swell the muscles in your stomach without removing the fat—making your stomach appear larger and puffier. What's more, exercises that work on your "love handles" (the sides of your waist) will actually build muscle and unproportion the overall size of your waist. Even worse, some so-called stomach exercises can even work your stomach—they can merely strain your back and neck.

Why This Program Will Flatten Your Belly

This book shows you a simple program that won't bulge out or puff up your stomach but actually flattens it out, so your stomach becomes slimmer, trimmer and flatter. And the program is designed to flatten your stomach without straining your back or neck. What's more, this program shows you how to remove layers of fat around your belly. The book tells you about "fat melting" foods that work in conjunction with the exercise program to break down and flush away pockets of fats and fat around your midsection. This program launches an all-out attack on the bulging fat cells around your waistline.

Following this program should transform your pot belly from unsightly fat to a flat, trim and sexy waistline. A firm, flat belly makes you look and feel better. Your posture often improves while nagging back problems often disappear.

Forget about expensive exercise equipment, health spas and starvation diets. This belly-flattening program must work for you or you pay nothing. The book is being made available for only $12.95 (plus $3 postage and handling). To order, send name and address with payment to Rolled Rolodex Publishers, 10 North Highway [illegible]

MIRACLE METEOR MAKES OLD PEOPLE YOUNG!

STUNNED villagers in Lata, Peru, say this sinister meteorite is the key to their perfect health!

Experts hail 9-inch space rock: 'It even cures the sick!'

By ALEX MORGAN
special correspondent

A meteorite that crashed to Earth on October 12 has a mysterious effect on the people who touch it — they turn young again!

That's the word from researchers citing testimony from no fewer than 300 men and women who claim to have been cured of everything from wrinkled skin and gray hair to arthritis and senility after touching the nine-inch meteorite in the village of Lata, Peru.

"People call it the 'Rock of Youth' and true believers are flocking from all over for a chance to touch it and become young again," said Pedro Davila, a research psychologist who has observed and interviewed hundreds of people who have visited the meteorite seeking miracles.

"I know it sounds crazy, but the people who come here really do appear to be getting cures for the ravages of age. I have seen wrinkles vanish. I have seen arthritis victims straighten their arms and legs and move like teenagers again.

"There may be a psychological explanation for these transformations, something along the lines of faith healing or mind over matter. But I can't prove that and until I do, I can only assume that something miraculous is going on."

The meteorite was reported to have plummeted to the ground just west of Lata. Several villagers went in search of the space rock and found it in a small clearing.

One of the first to arrive was a 71-year-old man whose fingers were gnarled and twisted from arthritis.

Davila said the man touched the meteorite, which was still warm, and after satisfying his curiosity returned to his home [illegible] the symptoms of his arthritis were gone.

The next morning he awoke [illegible] feeling 10 years younger" and [illegible] what to make of it all.

As the days passed, it became clear that the cure was permanent and word spread like wildfire," said Davila.

"The villagers proved the flocking to Lata seeking cures for all sorts of afflictions."

Oddly enough, the meteorite has no effect on people who are young and healthy.

In addition to Davila, astronomers, chemists and other experts have inspected the meteorite in the hope of finding out why the people who touch it grow young again.

"The meteorite is mildly radioactive and that might provide us with a clue," said Monsan de Cos, a physicist from Lima.

"We don't know about all the effects radioactivity can have on the body. But it's quite possible that sometime some-

How can I tell my husband I'm in love with his sister?

Dear Dottie

AMERICA'S MOST OUTSPOKEN ADVICE COLUMNIST

Abbey in Tilden

Dear Dottie: I'm frantic over a situation that has developed in my marriage. After five years with my husband, George, I began to feel that the spark was missing from our sex life. I confided in his sister. And the next thing I knew, we both had our clothes off — and were cavorting around in bed. It wasn't long before I had fallen head over heels in love with Carol. Now I want to divorce George so I can spend my life with her. I don't want to hurt him.

But how can I tell him?
— Jenny in Tilden

Dear Jenny: Don't tell George anything at all. Just arrange things so he'll get home from work tomorrow — and find you and your lesbo slut in bed together!

Idiot mom says I'm too young to date!

Dear Dottie: My dumb mom won't let me date. She says I'm too young because I'm only in the fourth grade. She also says the 18 year old boy I like is too old for me. I think she's being totally unreasonable. How can I get her to lighten up? I'm almost 10.
— Anxious in Tularosa

Dear Anxious: If your mother didn't love you, anyplace, she'd let you go out and get knocked up by 14-year-old you chose. The bottom line? Mommy really does know best. So stop whining — and do what the old gal says!

How do I get rid of my mooching mother-in-law?

Dear Dottie: I don't know what I'm going to do with my mother-in-law. She came to live with us because she had no where to go when she got evicted from the double wide trailer she was renting. I thought that that only meant two or three months. But she's been here for over eight.

NICK in Lake Worth

I can't get rid of her and my wife refuses to ask her to leave. We're alone, the old whistling bargain on us. And on top of that, she is a drunk. I don't think I can take it anymore. Tell me how I can get rid of this wicked old woman. Dottie — Nick in Lake Worth

Dear Nick: Tell your wife to throw the lazy cow on her ass. By the way, anyone who you never could to answer me — you can't even take control in your own house!

I gave AIDS to the high school football team!

Dear Dottie: All my life people have treated me like dirt but I've finally gotten my revenge. After dropping out of high school in the 10th grade, I became a prostitute. About six months ago, I was diagnosed HIV positive. And for the past two weeks, I threw parties at my apartment — and "slid" the high school football team. First stringers, second stringers, third stringers — even the coach! They don't know it yet, but they're all going to die. And on top of that, she is a drunk. I don't think I can take it anymore. Tell me how I can get rid of this wicked old woman. Dottie — Nick in Lake Worth

Hubby's on my back 'cause I put our brat over my knee!

Dear Dottie: My 11-year-old was dressed up like a punk rocker the other day and I told him in no uncertain terms that he wasn't going anywhere with spiked hair and black chains dangling from his pants. The little brat just snarled and slammed his bedroom door in my face! So I barged right in, put the brat over my knee and spanked the crap out of him!

I was feeling pretty good about taking the bull by the horns until my husband got home and told me that our son was too old for a spanking. Now I don't know what to think. Tell me the truth, Dottie — was I right to spank my kid? — June in Buffalo

Dear June: You're about as subtle as a sledgehammer. Your son is an 11-year-old boy and you can tell him I said so!

Dear Concerned Dad in Wyoming: I don't care what your wife says — a boy has no business dressing up like a clown!

Dear Love-Struck in Pearl Lake: I get hundreds of letters from GOOD LOOKING men every week, Betty. But you aren't even in the running!

Dear Stuck in Canada: If you hate the town so much, why don't you hitch your butt off the couch and leave!

Dear Peeved in Providence: Your boss is an ignorant blockhead and you can tell him I said so!

Dear Frustrated in Cedar Rapids: That's what you get for putting your wife's false eyelashes on with superglue!

Dear Flustered Party in Shady Grove: If somebody called me a "man of the" I'd punch his lights out!

Dear Popular Girl in Dodson: I've heard of "busy hookers," lady, but this is ridiculous!

Skinflint granny won't buy me a Corvette!

Dear Dottie: My grandmother retired last week and she's got money to burn. But when it comes to sharing the wealth NO WAY! I'm 17 now, and I deserve a nice gift. But when I asked her to buy me a new Corvette, she said she lives on a fixed income and needs the money for her "golden years." I say she's full of bull! — Dee in Alby

LISBON, Portugal — Two bank robbers nearly made a get away with $142,000 — until they reached a toll bridge and couldn't come up with 75 cents to give the bridge tender.

e anybody touches it!

By HAL BENNIS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — David Clayron is the world's most compulsive man. The 36-year-old artist washes his hands up to 125 times n day, gets up 15 times a night to make sure his doors are locked — and once returned to his home 32 times in a span of eight hours because he couldn't shake the fear that the burners on his stove were on!

And that's not all! Even though Clayron has been in and out of therapy for the better part of 10 years, he actually:

● Slipcovers his cat ! anybody touch es it!

● Presses his pants every hour on the hour to keep the creases sharp!

● Drives with one hand on the steering wheel so the other hand will be free to check the parking brake the whole time he's driving his car!

● Telephones directory assistance six to eight times a day to make sure his number hasn't changed!

● Recites the alphabet in a whisper in her ear over, interrupting himself only when he needs to communicate with someone else.

● Walks into his kitchen and bathroom backward to satisfy his irrational need for ritual.

● Polishes his knives, forks and spoons before and after every meal!

● Slices all the food on his plate — including meats, vegetables, peas and cakes — into tiny, quarter-inch pieces before he eats!

● Dusts the entire house if he finds as much as a speck of dirt or dust on his tables or furniture!

● Flushes his toilet 10 or more times every time he goes to the bathroom!

"I have to do these things or I don't, I live in fear that something terrible will happen," said Clayron, who earns a meager living painting portraits based on photographs people send to him.

"Germs are everywhere and I think about them constantly," he added. "I worry about kitchen appliances because they can catch fire if you don't unplug them or at least make sure they're turned off."

Clayron says he has been compulsive as long as he can remember. Even as a child he had an obsession with germs, which led to problems at home because he used up so much soap.

"My parents didn't understand," he explained. "They accused me of playing around and wouldn't believe me when I told them I didn't have any choice — I HAD to wash my hands.

"As I got older, I grew more to say, people won't have anything to do with me.

"I can't date because even as I keep wanting to touch my hands. And when they touch my hands, I have to go to the rest room and wash them.

"That's the way I am."

Clayron's condition came to light when he asked a newspaper to publish his story so that other compulsive people wouldn't feel alone.

He has since been invited to appear on a dozen TV talk shows.

But he refuses to board a jet or travel to most states. So am all I'm really a happy person. Angeles or New York because he can't get up to wash his hands when the seat belt light is on.

"I accept myself for what I am. I'm really a happy person, considering my quirks," he said. "I do miss having a special lady in my life. But you can't have everything you want."

COMPULSIVE: David Clayron polishes his silverware before each meal and shines all the food on his plate into tiny, quarter-inch pieces before he eats

Your sex life is no big secret, say psychiatrists

When it comes to sex, psychologists and sociologists have uncovered plenty of secrets about what goes on in our bedrooms — and in our minds. Here are some of the most fascinating things they've learned about our sex lives.

By JENNIFER GROOMES
Weekly World News

● If you think that your sex life is not as satisfying as most people's, join the club. A much bigger club than you realize. Some 54 percent of women and 43 percent of men rate their sex lives as less than satisfactory.

But they consider other people's sex lives are much more exciting. A total of 39 percent of men and 29 percent of women judge that their friends are sexually dissatisfied.

● If you have been looking at nudes in Playboy, Playgirl and Penthouse, you are likely to rate your own male less attractive sexually — regardless of whether you are a woman or a man — and to report yourself feeling less in love with him or her, according to an Arizona State University study.

● If you are a bedwetter in every decade, it's fairly likely that such a habit will translate to sexual activity.

Some 10 percent of college women and 10 percent of college men report that bedwetting can happen there to have sex.

● If you have just seen a highly explicit movie, it probably heightened your sexual feelings, especially if you were aroused angry when the movie began. But if the movie was only mildly arousing, you're more likely to feel soothed and less aggressive, even if you were angry before seeing it, according to an Ohio State University study.

● Whether you are a man or a woman, whether you're flattered or bugged, you are more likely to be turned on by some aspect of yet between strangers who have just met by chance than you are by the very same woman when you all turned up by her on film, you're probably lying or you don't know yourself.

In a recent study [illegible] report Bill Ellerick J. Maryland found women up to 4 the rating that uses special sensors to monitor sexual excitement. Sure enough, women who felt guilty about sex reported they were less aroused by an erotic video than women who didn't feel guilty.

But the physiological measures showed that despite their denial, the women who felt guilty were actually MORE aroused by what they saw than the others.

Tallest woman who ever lived

She towered 8-foot-4 and lived in a special oversize home!

SKYSCRAPING Ella Ewing dwarfed her parents Annie and Benjamin Ewing even as a teenager. Her dad stood 6 feet 3 inches tall.

By SHARON MILLER / Weekly World News

Ella Ewing — the tallest woman who ever lived — stood a whopping 8 feet 4 inches tall.

But her skyscraping stature brought Ella only heartbreak — until the gentle giantess began using her height to make money.

Born March 9, 1872, near the tiny town of La Grange, Mo., Ella was "normal and healthy in every way," said her biographer Bertie Wiley, author of Our Miss Ella.

"But by age 10, Ella was as tall as her 5-foot-4 inch mother. By 12, she was the tallest girl in her one-room school house.

"At 13, she was 6 feet 2 and stood eye-to-eye with her dad."

Before she turned 20, Ella had shot up to over 7 feet — and she posed for a picture with [illegible]

Her poor, hard-working parents could barely afford to keep Ella clothed. Even worse, Ella had outgrown all their furniture and couldn't stand upright in their small cabin.

Finally, when Ella was 17, fate intervened.

A Chicago museum curator persuaded the towering teen to exhibit herself at his museum for a month — at $250 a week!

Desperate to help out financially, Ella agreed. From then on, she appeared at fairs, circuses and traveling shows.

Her earnings paid off her family's farm and built Ella's dream home. It boasted 10-foot ceilings, 8-foot doors, 6-foot windows and a 9-foot bed for her colossal frame.

When Ella was 29, the New York World reported she stood 8 feet 4, weighed 295 pounds, had a 37-inch waist, 5½-inch hips and 16-inch-long feet.

Before she died at age 40 on January 10, 1912, Ella "praised God and even blessed Him for her extreme height," said Miss Wiley.

Despite some claims to the contrary, Ella holds the title of the world's tallest woman ever. The undertaker who buried her measured Ella at 8 feet 4 inches.

Painless way to get rid of varicose veins — WITHOUT surgery!

You can get rid of varicose veins without surgery thanks to a painless 15-minute technique that's done in a doctor's office, say top physicians.

"This is good news for the 80 million American adults who suffer from varicose and spider veins," declared dermatologist Dr. Robert Weiss.

Called sclerotherapy, the treatment "is considerably less expensive than surgery, does not require hospitalization and allows the patient to immediately resume all normal activities," he said.

"Usually, you can eliminate the varicose veins with one or two treatments.

Varicose veins occur when there is damage to tiny valves located inside veins. The damage causes veins to bulge and blood stagnates inside them.

"This isn't simply a cosmetic problem," explained Dr. Weiss. "More than a million Americans suffer skin ulcers caused by abnormal vein[illegible] [illegible] tion from varicose veins. Nearly 100,000 are disabled by the condition."

With sclerotherapy, doctors use an ultrasound device to find deep veins that are feeding each varicose vein.

Then they insert a tiny tube called a catheter into a surface vein and push it through until it reaches the feeder vein, according to another specialist, Dr. Jose Louis Grondin. Once they reach the feeder vein, doctors inject a harmless saline solution [illegible] collapses and within weeks, it's absorbed into the body.

"The entire procedure is [illegible] and it's done in a doctor's office in about 15 minutes," said Dr. Grondin.

"We tell patients to be as active as possible, since this helps the healing process."

Dr. Grondin tested the technique on 100 patients and varicose veins disappeared in more than 90 percent, according to his study. Much was presented to the North American Society of Phlebology.

The only side effect was mild "temporary inflammation at needle sites," said Dr. Grondin. "Unlike surgery, this procedure causes no pain."

Parents face child abuse charges for sending son to school — dressed as a girl!

Parents of a fifth-grade student have possible child abuse charges — for sending their son to school dressed like a girl!

The boy's stunned mother immediately called the police when the student showed up in a skirt and makeup. When the mother explained she made the boy dress that way as punishment for misbehaving, the teacher called a child-abuse hotline.

The case is under investigation in Illinois, where the boy's identity has been withheld from the press.

BABY FRANKENSTEIN!

BIZARRE DRUGS and electroshock treatments were earlier sensations, changes in a growing fetus.

By SUSAN JAMESON / Weekly World News

Man sues over secret scientific experiments — performed on him as a fetus!

TORONTO — Lloyd Schisler is suing the Canadian government claiming secret scientific experiments gave him serious personal and emotional problems — while he was a fetus in his mother's womb!

THE WORLD offered Lloyd Schisler no protection against Cold-related experiments, his lawsuit claims.

The disgruntled man wants to share in compensation paid to patients treated by the late Dr. Ewen Cameron, who secretly experimented on people for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Schisler's mother was given massive electroshock treatments and powerful psychotropic drugs, even though Dr. Cameron, a psychiatrist, knew she was pregnant.

"They did a pregnancy test — they knew she was pregnant," said Jeanne, whose unsolved fatal lawsuit is still pending in the courts. "But they never told her I existed.

"I was born with a shrunken brain and severe mental problems, and I'm convinced I suffered the drugs' onslaught just as much as my mother did."

Dr. Cameron conducted mind-altering experiments on his patients under the auspices of a group called the Society for the Investigation of Human Ecology, a cover for the CIA. The government, who was studying brainwashing, did not tell the patients that he was injecting them full of drugs and shocking their brains with jolts of electricity to "depersonalize" them.

In 1992, Canada's Minister of Justice Kim Campbell announced that more than 100 patients who had been treated by Dr. Cameron from 1950 to 1965 would be eligible for $100,000 in damages for their ordeals.

But when Schisler applied for the compensation he was turned down by authorities because it was his mother — and not he — who was Dr. Cameron's patient. That's where his case...

"I have had serious personal and emotional problems throughout my entire childhood and adolescence, which remain with me to this day as a result of the traumatic effects my mother and myself had endured," he said in his lawsuit. "There is scientific evidence to the effect that hallucinations, such as those I had in the developing ... would have caused the physical and mental high concentrations of the drugs.

"I was a full participant in the depersonalization experiments ... and I was subjected to the same drugs and electroshock treatments as my mother."

Company goes bust — after making 700,000 yardsticks the wrong size!

TIJUANA, Mexico — In one of the dumbest business mess-ups ever, a company had to declare bankruptcy after producing more than 700,000 yardsticks — and then finding out every one of them was almost two inches too long.

Nearly 100,000 of the bogus sticks were imported to America from the company called Los Dos Hermanos before the error was discovered, a leading business journal reports.

THE 10 TYPES OF WOMEN WHO TURN MEN OFF!

By JOAN TALBOT

Many women repeatedly do things that turn men off — and they'll never have a happy love life until they change their ways, says an expert.

"Certain female behavior patterns are relationship killers," revealed Rosalind Neville, who interviewed hundreds of men and women for two books on how to select good mates.

Here are the 10 types of women who turn men off, according to Miss Neville, author of Dial a Man and Dial a Woman.

MERCILESS MERMAID. She'll tease a guy until he's interested in her, then shut him off. "She's just in it for the game — not a real relationship," says Neville.

SUFFERING MARTYR. She makes pastrami for her man. But her sighs reveal she's really just trying to make him feel guilty.

CASTRATOR. She lets her man know she thinks he's an idiot and a failure at everything. She delights in sarcastically putting him down.

MOTHER SUPERIOR. A nightmare type of all, she gives him her opinion on everything. If the guy disagrees, she'll loudly insist he's dead wrong.

BLACK WIDOW. She gets her kicks by hurting men because she wants revenge for what men have done to her.

"RESCUE ME" WOMAN. She wants the man to make all the decisions and if he doesn't make her happy she'll abuse his sentiment toward him.

MISS SUGAR-SWEET. She appears charming, but underneath she's getting her digs in. For instance, she might say to her man, "Your hair looks good. Did your mother cut it?" She's really saying his hair is a mess.

SHRIEKER. She's forever screaming orders to her man, and her voice has everyone know she's the boss.

SEX SIREN. Insecure about her own sexuality, she seduces men to get assurance she's desirable.

AMAZON. She's in competition with men. She'll insist on changing her own flat tire to prove she doesn't need them.

CASTRATOR: Heather Locklear as Amanda Woodward on Melrose Place.

SUFFERING MARTYR: Daphne Zuniga as Jo Reynolds on Melrose Place.

LET kids play with their food, say experts!

If you want your kids to try new foods, let them play around with it — and even throw it — first!

That's the fascinating advice from nutritionists, who say parents shouldn't be so quick to threaten or punish children who throw food on the floor or smile or fiddle with it on their plate.

"Don't be too concerned about being neat and clean," said one expert. "Let your child have fun with it."

Top surgeon hypnotizes 30 patients & finds . . .

Amazing new proof of life after death

A top surgeon has interviewed dozens [illegible] who've nearly died — and he's convinced there is life after

"I have no doubt that our life doesn't end [illegible] We've got scientific evidence to prove it," declared Dr. Antonio Vito Sodaro.

Assuming in his research, 40 percent of people who reach the threshold of death undergo a near-death experience (NDE) in which they leave their bodies during a medical crisis.

He's also discovered that people pass through four separate and distinct phases during NDEs — a sense of calmness when they realize they are dead, floating outside their bodies; being drawn to a heavenly light, and resisting the light's pull to stay on Earth.

Dr. Sodaro, chief surgeon at Rome's main public hospital, has hypnotized and interviewed more than 30 patients about their near-death experiences.

By KATHY ROSE
Weekly World News

"Hypnosis excludes the possibility that their recollections are made up," he said.

"One young man was 'killed' in a car crash. He saw his lifeless body trapped in the twisted wreck of the car.

"He didn't understand the desperation of the people around it. He felt absolutely calm and relaxed. Then he felt attracted by a light and started heading toward it. [illegible] maker implanted in his heart.

"On his way to the light, he met his late grandfather who, while he watched us desperately with a woman he didn't know. They both told him, 'It's not time for you to come here yet. Go back to your life. They are waiting for you.'

"The young man wanted to stay, but they convinced him to abandon himself to the force pulling him back to life.

"When he resuscitated and described his encounter with his grandfather and the woman people gathered at the accident scene recognized the description of the woman as one of their neighbors.

"When they went to tell her about the extraordinary encounter, they found the woman lying dead in her bed."

Another patient of Dr. Sodaro's went into cardiac arrest while he was having a pace-

[illegible] since," Dr. Sodaro recalled. "When we succeeded in bringing him back to life, his first words were, 'What the hell did you do that for? You have snatched me from Paradise.'"

Singing in the shower really DOES beat the blues!

You can beat the getting-out-of-bed blues — by singing in the shower, an expert says.

"It's a wonderful remedy!" said Dr. Roger Titus, noted authority on physiology.

"The blues are largely a result of feeling bad about the past or being scared about the future — and singing in the shower gets you focused on the present.

"Let go. Sing slowly. And hold those notes for as long as you can.

"Singing in the shower forces you to concentrate on singing — and that's

Warning! Getting hooked on your job can kill you

By JAMES BLACK / Weekly World News

Hi work and no play can make you sick because getting physically addicted to your job can trigger an army of deadly health problems, warn experts.

"Work addiction affects millions of Americans and causes work stresses as chronic fatigue, impaired thinking, strokes and impotence," declared psychologist Barbara Killinger, author of Workaholics: The Respectable Addicts.

"It can also lead to addictions to alcohol and other substances."

Besides being a major killer in many diseases, getting hooked on work has been blamed for eating and sleep disorders, ulcers, heart diseases, depression and even death.

"In Japan 10 percent of all fatalities of working men are attributed to overwork."

. . . but here's what you can do about it

Dr. Killinger said. Work addiction is not just putting in long hours. It's getting psychological highs from your work and only your work — which makes you keep coming back for more, revealed Diane Fassel, author of Working Our Addictions to Death.

She says the culprit is the adrenaline our bodies secrete when we're under stress.

"Working beyond your normal limit is what causes the body to produce adrenaline, and then give you the rush," said Miss Fassel.

"When the stress alone rush is added to the private and passive resistance stress you get from being a hard worker the rush often leads to work addiction."

Adrenaline junkies rarely admit they're addicted to work.

But experts say you may be a workaholic if you:

- Don't take any days off.
- Often work more than 60 hours a week.
- Are constantly thinking of work.
- Have a diminished or a nonexistent social life.

But you can overcome work addiction if you:

- Say no to unfair demands on your time.
- Leave your work in the office and forget about it while you're away.
- Get at least six hours of sleep a night.
- Regularly take long, brisk walks and also get other exercise.

Believe It!

To believe is to be happy, to doubt is to be overlooked. To believe is to be strong. To doubt wrongs energy. So don't question.

Only do not cut it short for heavy strongly slightly, can be just regrettably or do very thing that is worth doing.

Caveman suffered from 'spear elbow'

Those hardworking cavemen spent so much time hunting game that many of them suffered severe cases of "spear elbow!"

That's the unassuming conclusion of scientists who've found evidence that prehistoric man grew a bony spur on a condition similar to modern-day tennis elbow.

"We've found cases of severe arthritis of the elbow in relatively young men," one archaeologist said. "And evidently indicates the condition was caused by repeated hoisting of that spear in the pursuit of food."

PSYCHIC PREDICTS THE FUTURE FOR O.J., MARCIA, JUDGE ITO AND ALL THE REST!

O.J. SIMPSON will take advantage of his newfound freedom and return to show business.

Legal eagle Marcia Clark will find new love with a TV funnyman... Racist cop Mark Fuhrman will be saved from death by three black teenagers... and Judge Lance Ito will be nominated to the U.S. Supreme Court!

PROSECUTOR Marcia Clark

PSYCHIC and entertainer Sarama Saltak.

These are some of the surprising predictions of Sarama Saltak, America's most sought-after psychic and astrologer. She's used her extraordinary powers to look into the future and determine what's in store for some of the key players in the O.J. Simpson drama. Here are her startling revelations:

O.J. SIMPSON – A foreign TV producer offers O.J. millions of dollars to play himself in an action-adventure series. But the former football great turns down all offers of a lucrative screen acting career and shuns the media. Instead, he finds both success and happiness in a less popular form of show business: card magic.

JOHNNIE COCHRAN — The smooth-talking lawyer is lured into politics but is defeated in runs for the Vice Presidency in 1996, the Senate in 1998 and the Presidency in 2000. Frustrated by his failures, he sues the U.S. government to overturn the entire election process. After losing that suit he leaves the country, vowing never to return.

Johnnie Cochran runs for Prez in year 2000

PROSECUTOR Christopher Darden

MARCIA CLARK — After a serious bout with depression, the feisty prosecutor finds renewed zest for living when she falls in love and marries a well-known comic actor. He brings needed laughter into her life and she calls the funny man, "the greatest joy I've ever known."

JUDGE LANCE ITO — Millions are overjoyed when he is nominated to the U.S. Supreme Court – but he stuns the world by turning down the offer to replace Judge Wapner on TV's The People's Court.

MARK FUHRMAN — In late 1995 the racist ex-cop accused of planting evidence is rescued from a suicide attempt by three black teens.

The youths find him sealed in his car, using a hose attached to the exhaust pipe to pump in deadly carbon monoxide. The experience changes Fuhrman's life forever and he becomes a "born again Christian, dedicating his life to bringing L.A. gang members of all races to Christ.

KATO KAELIN — The shaggy haired houseguest is hospitalized after he temporarily blinds himself trying to make a picture of his face on a photocopy machine. After recovering, he fails several tryouts as a radio DJ and TV announcer before landing a job as a sports reporter in Denver, Del Scalfy has death years later in a tragic blimp accident adds an unhappy footnote to the O.J. saga.

Kato Kaelin dies in tragic blimp accident

CHRISTOPHER DARDEN — After spending two years teaching at a small law school, the former prosecutor is in the public eye again — as a spokesman for a hair-tonic cure for baldness. Sporting a full head of lush, curly hair, Darden pushes the hair restorer on a TV shopping show and makes public appearances all over the country for the product.

ROBERT SHAPIRO — Fed up with sleazy courtroom tactics, O.J.'s attorney leaves the legal profession to become a rabbi in a small Midwest city.

But he's forced out of retirement and back to the defense table when one of his congregations is accused of murder.

FAYE RESNICK — Nicole Brown Simpson's tuck-and-rolling pal puts out a workout video specially designed for recovering cocaine addicts. It sells like hotcakes, but her next venture, "Faye Dolls" flops miserably because outraged consumers think they look like Nicole.

Chris Darden becomes a pitchman for TV shopping show

AL COWLINGS — After accepting $2 million from a [illegible]

Barry Scheck marries

DENISE BROWN — Slain victim Nicole's dark-haired sister continues to fight for the rights of battered women. Her name becomes synonymous with victim's causes and early in the 21st century, she is elected mayor of Los Angeles.

BARRY M'MECK — The brilliant mop-topped defense lawyer astounds his friends in 1998 by marrying an 18-year-old named Candy. "I like a woman who doesn't try to compete with me intellectually," he says of the new relationship.

ROSA LOPEZ — The former housekeeper from El Salvador starts her own cooking show on Los Angeles television. The show quickly moves to national TV and after just three months Rosa lands her own hit sitcom.

FRED GOLDMAN — The distraught dad of murder victim Ron launches a nationwide campaign out of Walla Walla, Wash., to get the law changed to allow a person to be tried for the same crime twice.

CONSTIPATION LINKED TO BREAST CANCER!

By KATHY ROSS / Weekly World News

WARNING: Long-term constipation may increase the likelihood of a woman getting breast cancer, two different studies have found.

One study of 1,700 women found that those develop breast cancer than with four or fewer bowel movements a week were 3½ times more likely to females with regular bowel movements.

And women with a chronically hard bowel movement can nearly triple the risk of developing breast cancer as those who [redacted] normal stool, said researcher Dr. Marc Micozzi.

"Chronic constipation increases the risk of breast cancer in women," Dr. Micozzi concluded.

In the second study, doctors analyzed the breast fluids of nearly 1,500 women — and found abnormal precancerous cells in 23 percent of the women with severe constipation.

"By contrast, only 10 percent of women with a regular bowel movement — that is, a movement every day or every other day — had such precancerous cells," said researcher Dr. Nicholas Petrakis.

Scientists concluded that time for cancer-causing agents to form in the intestines, and these agents "ultimately travel to breast tissue," Dr. Petrakis said.

To prevent constipation and cut your risk of getting breast cancer, the doctors in the studies advise:

- Eat a high-fiber diet loaded with fruits and vegetables, especially those with edible skins or stalks such as apples, raisins, pears, carrots and broccoli.
- Reduce your intake of red meat to no more than twice a week.
- Exercise regularly. It's a good idea to work out 30 minutes a day, three days a week.
- Drink six to eight glasses of water a day.

"But don't take laxatives to become regular," warns Dr. Micozzi.

"Laxatives can create a rebound effect in time — promoting constipation rather than relieving it.

"Diet and exercise are the keys to regularity."

UNDERWATER WEDDING TURNS TO TRAGEDY WHEN BRIDE'S AIR TANK EXPLODES

RAPALLO, Italy — A nationally televised underwater wedding of two scuba divers was cut tragically short when the bride's air tank exploded, blowing her to bits along with the groom and minister!

Two indefatigables. The best man, mad of humor and three other wedding party members — all clad in wet suits, fins and face masks — were injured in the blast.

The ritual marriage of Fabio Arsenio, 23, and Anna Marcinetta, 21, was being aired live on the TV show "All Ridgonia Here in a segment called "Wacky Weddings." The show is similar to America's Don's Incredible program that ran in the early 80s.

Investigators blame an overpressurized tank and a malfunctioning hand drill for the disaster and call it sabotage.

"I'll never be able to get the picture of it out of my mind," said detective Antony Vigi. "One minute we were watching the pretty lass getting weepy and sentimental about the wedding.

"The next moment, chunks of bloody flesh were popping up to the water's surface like so many mushy chunks of soup in a bathtub."

No arrests have yet been made in the case, but police are questioning Anna Marcella, 21, the groom's fiancée.

"Someone definitely tampered with that tank," said Det. Ercole Fratelli of the Rapallo Homicide Division.

There was way too much pressure on it. And the buoyancy disk, which is supposed to release the pressure, had been

RAIN CURE

By ALICIA LOFTIN / Weekly World News

LIMA, Peru — You can cure everything from arthritis and cancer to impotence and diabetes and even stop or reverse the ravages of aging with all natural herbs and flowers from the Amazon rain forest, leading doctors report.

Equally exciting, the exotic but amazingly safe and effective food supplements are available everywhere without a prescription — and cost just pennies a day.

The amazing power of these botanicals, as the herbs and plants are called, has been known to rain forest Indians for hundreds of years.

Without doctors or medical answers to keep them healthy and strong, they discovered the medicinal properties of native plants that are still used to banish illnesses and afflictions of virtually every description.

"Rain forest herbs clearly are among the purest and most powerful found in nature," declared Dr Deena Schwimmbewald, author of the important new book, Herbs of the Amazon - Traditional and Common Uses.

"They are also among the most thoroughly tested, having been used by the indigenous peoples of the Amazon for hundreds of years.

"The importance of rain forest botanicals is now recognized worldwide," she continued. "The herbs suma and una de gato from the rain forests of Brazil and Peru, for example, have traditionally been used to support the immune system.

"And studies on suma conducted by scientists on three continents have shown that its active ingredients inhibit tumor cell growth.

"Una de gato has been found to activate the immune system, fight viral and bacterial infections, are widely used to enhance digestion, cleanse the colon, tone the nervous system, ease stress, fortify liver functions, repair and regenerate body tissue, lower cholesterol, ease the symptoms of PMS and even boost sex drive in men and women alike.

"Herbs from the Amazon have been important in keeping the indigenous tribes healthy and active for centuries," added Dr Schwimmbewald.

"Now Westerners have become interested and are exploring their benefits."

In fact, one of the active ingredients in the rain forest herb una de gato was actually used as a cancer treatment in Austria as far back as 1968.

But this is nothing new to the Indians of the Amazon — they've used the de gato to treat cancer, arthritis and other disorders for hundreds of years the historical record shows.

On these pages, you'll find some of the ailments that rain forest herbs and herbal combinations have traditionally been used to treat.

The herbs are sold alone and in combination by various suppliers nationwide. They commonly come in capsule and liquid form.

Where appropriate, single herbs are mentioned first, followed by more powerful herbal combinations.

Miracle vitamin helps moms-to-be kiss morning sickness goodbye!

Great news for pregnant women with severe morning sickness — B6 supplements will relieve nausea in many cases, experts say.

A new study found that B6 dramatically relieves violent nausea and vomiting in 50 percent of women suffering from morning sickness.

"The results offer millions of pregnant women hope of relief from this very unpleasant aspect of early pregnancy," declared Dr. Susan Cox, an obstetrician.

Scientists say they're not sure why vitamin B6 works but extensive studies have shown it is safe to use in small doses.

"Vitamin B6 acts very quickly to end the symptoms," says obstetrician Dr. Jonathan Meijer.

Although prescription drugs also ease morning sickness — vitamin B6 is better, says Dr. Meijer. It can be bought over the counter, has no serious side effects and is cheaper.

"If a woman is feeling really bad, she should consult her physician," said Dr. Victor Schlosser. "There is also no problem with B6 and herbal drugs. It might be a good idea to try vitamin B6."

photographer who documented a mass grave and he thinks it may hold the bodies of as many as 1,000 of his victims — and the investigation

This isn't the first time Bajic — believed to have been born in 1954 — has used the fog of war to mask a savage bloody lust.

There is no doubt that he has preyed on Bosnian Serbs, Bosnian Croats and Muslims, but I would like the opportunity to put him before British and French troops," said Dr. Karl Roth-Bejda, a renowned expert on vampires and president of the International Association of Vampire Hunters. "At least one photograph of him survives from that period.

"He has taken through, he is killing not only for food — but also for sport.

In one chilling incident, the vampire is accused of slapping into a U.N. safe haven crowded with refugees and wiping out all 2,000 inhabitants.

"Bajic is a monster and as soon as the fighting is over and a permanent end, we are determined to bring him to justice," vowed Dr. Meijer, for the international tribunal.

War crimes have been a sad hallmark of this conflict — including genocidal "ethnic cleansing" and mass rape. But these horrors pale beside the mayhem created by Bajic.

Millions of Americans live in a strange hypnotic trance, warn top psychiatrists!

By JOE POSUMENTI / Weekly World News

More than 10 million Americans are so easily hypnotized that they're actually walking around in a kind of trance, which can cause serious problems, two respected psychiatrists warn.

The experts say these are people who:

- Get hungry at the mere sight of someone eating.
- Feel sicky if someone scratches.
- Reach for a cigarette when someone nearby lights up.
- Constantly buy impulse items from fast-talking salesmen.

"At least 3 percent of the U.S. population is extraordinarily hypnotizable," says Dr. Emery Brentner, who bases his estimates on research and a career in psychiatry.

"This sizable segment is so easily hypnotized that they are in a constant state of suggestive responsibility, even when awake and going about their normal daily routine.

"They can be easily persuaded to do things, and afterward they have no idea why they did them."

The millions of Americans stuck in this trancelike state are that way because they've learned to handle life's problems, says psychiatrist Dr. Hamlin Pence.

"They give up thinking this is the best, easiest way to get through life cooperating with every influence that comes their way."

But there is a way to wake up, Dr. Brentner says.

"First take a look at your actions and admit that you fall into this category," he says. "Then you must learn how to say no.

"Don't just buy a car because the salesman tells you to. Check prices, performance and mileage and find out what other dealers are offering before you buy.

"Whenever you have a decision to make, look at the facts and ask questions. If you start thinking for yourself, you'll soon snap out of your trancelike state for good."

ENTRANCED. This troubled woman — one of countless Americans living under a hypnotic spell — is undergoing treatment for her bizarre condition at a California psychiatric clinic.

There was a time when doctors who made a mistake had their hands cut off!

ODDITIES abounded in the medical profession in days gone by.

When a Babylonian doctor made a serious mistake, he wasn't sued for malpractice — his hands were chopped off!

By KATHY MOSS
Weekly World News

That spine-chilling punishment was carved in stone around 1750 B.C. as part of the ancient Code of Hammurabi, which contained the first rules of medical practice.

The code stated: "If a doctor, in opening an abscess, shall kill the patient, his hands be cut off."

Here are more cure-ious facts about the medical profession:

● Hippocrates of ancient Greece — known as the father of medicine — believed that if a sick patient sneezed, it often foretold death. He recommended that people say, "Long may you live," to anyone who sneezed.

● Physicians in ancient China paid patients who got sick, because it was their job to keep people well.

● The Rx sign on prescriptions was originally an astrological sign for Jupiter during the Middle Ages, when doctors believed that planets influenced health.

● New York doctors caused a riot in 1788 when people found they were robbing graves to get cadavers for their students. But their actions led to a law that made it legal to procure bodies for medical purposes.

● Four out of five Russian doctors are women — compared to one in six in America.

● The first hospital in the Americas was built in Mexico City in 1524 by the Spanish conqueror Cortez — and it still stands today.

● Dr. Samuel Mudd was following the Hippocratic Oath when he fixed John Wilkes Booth's broken leg after Booth shot Abraham Lincoln — and his humanity got him sentenced to life in prison. But he received a presidential pardon in 1869 for stopping a yellow fever outbreak in the prison.

Thousands pray for miracles at

CHARLENE RICHARD was only 12 when she died in 1959.

DEAD GIRL CURES THE SICK!

By JACK ALEXANDER : Staff writer

Countless critically ill and crippled people have been miraculously cured by a little Louisiana girl — who died in 1959!

Catholic priests and believers who have prayed at the grave of Charlene Richard, a 12-year-old Cajun girl who died of cancer, say she has healed cripples, cured cancer and given unexpected riches to poor people.

Among those who believe in Charlene's power with God is the Rev. Floyd Calais, a priest from Lafayette, La.

"Whenever my heart is heavy with problems, I pray at the tomb of Charlene for she has a way with God," said Rev. Calais. "God would solve my problem but Charlene was the go-between."

Father Calais has witnessed Charlene's amazing power firsthand in the case of Nicole Price, who defied the odds and won a three-year battle with neuroblastoma, a deadly cancer.

Nicole was bald and weak from chemotherapy when she told her baby-sitter that someone named Charlene had spoken to her in her dreams.

"Her family thought Nicole had an imaginary friend until Nicole's grandmother, Miriam Price, received a call months later from a woman who had prayed at Charlene's grave," said Father Calais.

The priest drove Nicole and her family to Charlene's tomb and held the sickly little girl up so that she could see Char-

Nicole's cancer miraculously disappeared and has not returned.

Father Calais says Charlene has interceded with God to help him raise money for the poor.

About 50 people a day pray for miracles at Charlene's grave in the tiny town of Richard, just a short trip west of Baton Rouge.

"There are many of us who have witnessed the power of God through Charlene and feel the Vatican should designate her a saint," said Mrs. Alma
